Money Lost,

Mr. James Graves was going to the Citizens' Bank this morning to deposit three hundred and thirty dollars in five, ten and twenty dollar bills. The money was in his bank-book in his pocket, but he took the book out of his pocket and carried it in his hand. Between J. B. Wilder's drug-house and the bank some dextrous thief drew the money out of the book, or he lost it, he can't tell which, as he did not miss it antil be arrived at the bank.

Broke his Wrist.

Mr. Henry Stegen, a market gardener was coming to the city yesterday with a spring wagon, loaded with vegetables. As he began the ascent of King's hill, ou Mann's Lick road, some seven miles from town, he jumped of the wagon to lighten the load, and led his horse. On the way up the hill, he stumb ed and fell, and one wheel of the wogor, passed over his right wrist, breaking the bone and generally oruising it. As soon as possible he picked himself up and reacted the city, and had the bone set.

Sinrs on Women. Of all the erils prevalent among en, we know of none more blighting in ts moral effects than to speak slightingly of the virtue of women. Nor is there anyhing in which young men are so thor ighly mistaken, as the low estimate they rni of the integrity of women-not heir own mothers and sisters, but of othrs, who, they forget, are somebody else's nothers and sisters. As a rule, no person who surrenders to this debasing habit is o be trusted with any enterprise requiring integrity of character. Plain words should be spoken on this point, for the evil is a general one, and deep-rooted. young men are sometimes thrown into the ociety of thoughtless or lewd women, they have no more right to measure all other women by what they see of these, than hey would have to estimate the character f honest and respectable citizens by the levelopments of crime in our police Let our young men remembe that their chief happiness of life depcuds upon their utter faith in women. orldly wisdom, no misauthropic philosophy, no generalization, can corer or weaken this fundamental truth. Itstands nothing less than this -and should put an everlasting seal upon lips that are wont to peak slightingly of women.

We have told them of the inexhaustible beds of coal and, mines of iron, and quarries of stone, and forests of timber, with which that branch road would connect us, and urged its rapid completion with all the arguments we could command. It is our purpose from time to time to call the attention of our citizens to other sources of wealth within our State and within their reach just as we have those along the Levanon branch railroad.

We were young at the time, but we well remember the much that was said in our State in 1834 about internal improveand in 1-13 they were completed and navigation formally opened upon the river. But these dams only made the river navigable for about one hundred miles; that is, from Clear creek, about thirty-five miles above Frankfort, to the Olio river. The coal and iron and salt and timber which nature lavished upon the counties of Estill, Madison, Owsley, Breathitt, Clay and Perry were far beyond the reach of the navigable waters made by these dams. And thus this great work, so far as Louisville was concerned, like all others, stopped short of the thing that our citizens most needed. True, we wanted helped by the five dams made, but we wanted still more the mineral wealth that lay in the mountains beyond.

THE RIVIERE SENSATION. The celebrated case of Steele ys. the Barou De Riviere, was brought up to-day before a referee. Some extremely interesting facts were developed during the examination. The lady, though still beautiful and young, being but twenty-eight years of age, hae traveled almost everywhere. She has been rich, and while in Paris in 1865 had a toilette which alone was vained at eighty thousand There also nine horses, five carriages and velvet dresses without number. Warrenton, Va., ist october, 9½ p. M., ist9.—Str.—I have the honor to acknowledge the receipt of a communication from Colonel Mesby by your hands.

Without putting this matter in otberhands, I reply at once, to inform you that I am not witing to be placed in the position which Colonel Mosby assumes—that of a challenging party. I did not "desire satisfaction," hor make the "proposition to light." My words were, that if he continued to interier with my business, I would make it a "personal matter." To this note, I can, therefore, make no other reply.

warrent to the attach agreement for a fight satisfaction for alleged wrongs I had done you, and I immediately answered that I was rendy to give it. An agreement for a fight was then made to come off on your return to Warrenton. Accordingly, as soon as I heard that you had returned, I addressed you a formal acceptance for a proposit on to light. Col. smith, the bearer of my note to you, has just shown me one addressed by you to film, in which you ignore the fact that there was any agreement for a light, and say "that you desire no satisfaction," and that you simply notified me "that if I continued to interfere with your business you would make it a personal matter." I certainly did m. I so understand you; and I wish you to know that so long as the interests of my clients and the jecuple of Fauquier county demand it, I shall "continue to interfere in your business."

I now demand of you satisfaction for the language used by you in reference to myself. Col. Smith is authorized to arrange the terms of a meeting.

Your statement in your letter of 1st Instant that I "desired satisfaction for alleged wrongs that I "desired satisfaction for alleged wroms that you had done me" is without foundation, as well as "that an nareement form fight was then made." Your "formal acceptance" was a "proposition" of your own. I our proposition must be made on other terms—that of satisfaction for words addressed to you. To nearly when properly quoted I will reply. I did not almele to your "clients and the people of Fauquier." therefore waive remarks with regard to them. It is not for me to discuss your intentional misrepresentation of words in my note to Colonel Smith, in which you state, with quotation marks, "that you loyd desire no satisfaction." Two letters having passed between ns without your using the language of provocation towards you, I deem a further correspondence useless.

....12 o'clock M GALT HOUSE, Corner Main and First streets, acting on behalf of the insurgents lately and still in arms in that town and within the limits of the Episcopal See, has just sought an interview with the officer in command of the government troops operating in the district. The Archbishop interceded in behalf of the insurgents and in support of the authorities making terms with leniency toward them. When the deputation retired a general military council was held, ut which the subject was discussed. It was finally decided that the insurgents must all surrender at discretion.

This royal spread was discussed with the happlest vim. As the first banqueters sated their palates, other brigades moved into the vacant places; and thus it went merrily on up to mid-night. One and all were served plenteously, and when the four thousand hungiy men had eaten their fill, the tables showed no signs of barren ness. Any attempt to delineate the scene kept up around the richly-laden boards would prove a sublime fallure. In the language of aniedlluvian reporters, "It baffled description." THE SPEECHES. About nine o'clock the feast of reason and flow of soul commenced. Mayor Bunce, acting master ol ceremonies, proposed each of the States in rotation and called upon tome one of their representatives in the convention to respond. Mr. Corwin, of Ohlo; Mr. Halderman, of Georgia, and gentlemen from Virginia, Arken-sas and other States, made addresses; but owing to the density of the crowd and the lowness of the celling in the basement, the voles: of the speakers could not be heard distinctly enough to be reported. When these disadvantages became more and more apparent, the con-course adjourned to the Rink above, where all eould hear and be heard without difficulty Among the more impressive speeches delivered vere the following:

Among the more impressive speeches delivered were the followiag:

New York—Response by Hon. Erastus Brooks: Mr. Mayor and fellow-eitizens of Kentucky, and of the United States of America [Cries of "pood"], I congratulate you, with all me heart. As the representative of the State of New York, I am glad to be here. I can say that I feel it good to be here, I prepaised; to assenate with ordering the representative of the United States. This is a "peace convention," and If the spirit which has been manifested here during the week, not less from Arkansas than from Vermont, not less from Orbo into Massachusetts and Georgia, could animate the Zongress of the United States, my friend from Virginia would not have to pray, as he did to-nigh, that the shackles might fall from the Old Dominion. [Applause.] Why, gentlemen, this grand old Union of ours was comented in the 1900 of the revolutionary fathers. This use Union of ours is e-mented in the 1900 of ours is e-mented in the blood of some of the best sous of the South and North, and I six, to-night, with all due respect and deferonce, "What God hath Joined together let no man put asunder. [Applause.] Whoever assails one section of our courry hereafter is no filend of any section. There is room and rauge for all of us. This country of ours is almost beyond the comprehension of that telescope to which my friend Gov. Hebert alludeo to-day when speaking of that great highway through the mouth of the Mississippi. The Mississippi is your Hudson, and may some De Witt Clinton pened up the lakes to us. I have said there is ample room for us all. Why, gentlemen, Kentucky is no longer the "daix and bloody ground" to which the Governor alluded. It is the bright sun of the grand United States; the State which has the finest horses and faired women in the world. [Applause and laughted.] Gentlemen, Kentucky is no longer the "daix and bloody ground" to which the Governor alluded. lllinois-J. M. Richards-Mr. President: Noth ILLINOIS—J. M. Richards—Mr. President: Nothlng could be easier, pleasanter, or truer, than to say, for my constituents and the country i represent, that the welfare of the people inhabiting the Southern States of our Uulou is a question of great interest to them. They have no greater, and I am sure no less, regard for you than for the people of other sections, but they have a brotherly love for all the people of our great and maginfluent country. We meet on the soil of America from the four quariers of the globe, and we represent every race and people. We all have allke a tight to that proud title, American citizen, and we are here, wherever born, citizens of one country. country.

Our interest in preserving and extending the decessary inspection of the tobacco stored in the several navy yards of the country, which was purchased during the war. The last contract was made about a year ago, with R. S. Mays, of Richmond, Virginia, for sixty thousand pounds. It is, therefore, probable that no new contract will be required for several years, unloss the impection referred to discloses an unusual decay in the stock on hand.

TENNESSEE—W. G. Brian—Gentlemen: On an ocal ion like this, a response from Tennessee would be peculiarly little. From an office of Tennessee bleeds in one sacre I make the compares and agricultural from the compares and agricultur bleeds in one sacre i union commerce and agri-culture. Beneath the soil of Tennessee sleeps one of her cutzens whose unblest and most pa-idotle expression you have simply to recall. "The Eulon Bustand" (as eld litekory always was emphatep "shall be preserved." No State in the Union his devoted mobler sons upon both sides to the recent contest the himse for the order. ides to the recent con est fighting for the opinions that they honestly cutertained. There is no state in the Union more determined that she shall be a State, and be a State in the Union. Hence we are include gratified at the expressions of regulation and confirment.

Hence we are nichly gratified at the expressions of re-union and sentiment of natriotism which have characterized this festival to-night and the deliberations of the convention. In conclusion, I have simply to say, may this fraternal feeling prevail, the late asperities be removed; let the unity of our brotherhood be sacred, and the v ry colors that designate our flag become emphatic for its emblem: The white, its purity, the red, its love; the blue, its ddelity. [Applause.]

The Bible says of prayer, that brevity is its soul; Shakspeare suys that the soul of wit is brevity. So if I cannot be brilliant I can be brief.

Kentucky Items.

The whole of Eastern Kentucky is reported to be overrun with horse-thieves whose operations are on such a bold and extended scale that hardly any citizen dares attempt to own or keep a horse. Alex. McClintock, of Millersburg, on Monday last shipped twenty mules to Georgia. They brought $225 per head.

A man named Wilson David was thrown by his horse at Ruddell's Mills last Fri lay night and instantly killed. James O'Kane, alias "James Ginter, after impostering Cynthiana to the 'nne of $2,000, has flown to another clime.

Important Discovery.

A genuine silver mine has been discovered on the farm of Mr. Lewis Stevens, of this county. We have now in our posses sion some very rich specimens of the ore, and are assured that the vein promises to be rich and prednetive. Mr. Stevens' farm is situated on Lawrence creek, about three miles from the city. - Moysrille, Ky.
